

GULF COAST BREEZE.

J. LOVICK ADAMS, Editor.

CRAWFORDVILLE, FLA., Dec. 9 1898

VOL. 2. NO. 25

LOCAL.

Mr. Leon Harvey, of Sopchoppy, was here Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harrell, of St. Marks, were here Monday.

Those who were recently vaccinated by Dr. Hunt have suffered quite severely with sore arms.

This cold wet weather is very disagreeable, and bad colds and influenza are prevalent everywhere.

Work is progressing steadily on Mr. John Baker's new residence, and he hopes to have it finished by Christmas.

The little nine months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Tucker died last week and was buried at the Crawfordville Cemetery.

The seinyards on our Coast closed down this week and some of the fish wagons from Georgia had to go back empty. The gill netters are still fishing.

Quarterly meeting will be held at the Methodist church here Sunday. Rev. Mr. Householder will be here and every body should attend.

If a two cent revenue tax was imposed on ten cent dudes, the proceeds would be enough to support the entire standing army, of the United States.

Christmas is almost here and the Breeze wants several big fat turkeys on subscription. Don't all come at once however, but give us time to build a coop.

The fishing season for mullet and their delicious roe is passed, and in comes the season for trout, sheep-head and bass fish with oysters, which will be in season until the first of May.

Crawfordville, the county site and St. Marks at the junction of the St. Marks and Wakulla rivers and Panacea on Dickerson bay can afford more game, better hunting ground and as much sport with as cheap board and hack hire as any place in the State.

Christmas is coming and the merchants will find it to their interest to advertise their special bargains and Xmas goods, for when all farm and garden products are too cheap to sell Wakulla comes to the front with her timber, fish, and oysters and always has money to spend.

If you are hunting a place to do business with a profit or the luxuries for the inner man with all the pleasures of paradise and a few torments of hades, come to Wakulla county, for you can laugh your-self sore at the foot and horse-races, and weep and mourn your-self out of church on the same day.

Did you see those two handsome young school teachers in town Monday, with their hats reposing jauntily on the rear ends of their craniums, and the cutest little home made curls dangling over their foreheads? Who blames the young lady teachers for being captivated?

Two pleasant entertainments have kept the young people of Crawfordville lively for the past two weeks. The first was given Thursday night of last week at the residence of Mr. J. M. Towles. The second was given last Thursday night at the home of Col. R. Don McLeod. Both were well attended and greatly enjoyed by all.

A SAD DEATH.

About daylight Thursday morning the spirit of little Crawford Adams, youngest child and only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Adams, returned from this world of sorrow to the God who gave it. She was just recovering from a long spell of malarial fever, with which she had suffered several months, when she was stricken down with dropsy of the heart which resulted in death. Crawford was always of a bright cheerful disposition and bore long months of suffering without a murmur. The sad death of the only daughter and sister is a great blow to the bereaved family.

Instead of discontinuing, as announced in our last issue, the proprietor of the Breeze has decided to enlarge the paper and begin again with renewed energy. The coming year we are going to give the people of Wakulla a paper worth reading, and one for which they will not begrudge the subscription price.

Notice.

Is hereby given that thirty days from the date hereof I will apply to Hon. S. J. Giles Judge of the probate court of Wakulla County State of Florida for an order to sell at private Sale a portion of the lands in said county belonging to the Estate of the late Andrew J.
